Casey McGarr

Bio

Casey is a Professor at East Texas A&M University, teaching in the Visual Communication Program in Dallas. He has taught undergraduate Typography, Design 1, Letterpress printing. He also teaches in the MFA Graduate Program, which includes Pedagogy and Design Education, Design Teaching Environment, Graduate letterpress and Thesis Exhibition.

Casey also served as a study abroad faculty co-director in April 2023 with faculty director Professor Veronica Vaughan, which led ten students to an Italy study abroad trip that was hugely successful and life-changing for the students. In May 2016, Casey was invited to lecture on “Brainstorming and Ideation” at The Tianjin University of Technology in Tianjin, China.

He received his MFA in Visual Communication at East Texas A&M University and previously taught graphic design at Arkansas State University, where he helped author and develop the current design curriculum. McGarr was the Dallas Society of Visual Communications president in 2000-2001, the largest local graphic design club.

Casey has been a professional designer for over 30 years, acting as a creative director, art director, and owner. He owns and operates a letterpress design and print shop, “Inky Lips Letterpress,” producing custom invitations and poster work for various local, national, and international clients and teaching educational workshops. His work has been recognized in national and international publications and gallery exhibitions — Casey designs and prints on two Vandercook proof presses and a Showcard. The shop has hundreds of metal fonts and 50 wood fonts that reside in ten type cabinets. He continues to hold workshops for local and regional attendees. Casey makes letterpress wood fonts with a CNC router, elevating the letterpress craft to a national venue.

Research And Creative Activities

With over thirty years as a practicing graphic designer and twenty years of letterpress printing have directed my teaching by bringing in professional practice experience into the classroom. My passion for research is self-evident in teaching Master of Fine Arts graduates in the VisCom Program. I continue to produce letterpress invitations, business cards, posters for clients and self promotion.

In the summer of 2012 with the purchase of a CNC Router with research funds, I have been able to produce over 30 fonts of type from a historical aspect and designing fonts by manipulating existing digital type.

Workshops are held educating participants on the art of letterpress printing on Saturdays from 10:00 am - 4:00 v
